

International conference on

CANNABIS AND MEDICINAL RESEARCH

November 15-16, 2018 Osaka, Japan

Ian Quinn

Phyto Animal Health, USA

Healthy Pets; Happy Planet

Hemp isn't just a source of CBD. Hemp is the answer to promoting health for humans, our pets and the planet we call home. It is this belief that drives Phyto Animal Health to act with environmental ethics in every decision we make each day. is to inspire audience members and bring hope that smart businesses practices can help heal our planet. The Phyto Animal Health brand was created to bring the CBD benefits that humans enjoy every day to pets and livestock animals. More than just a CBD pet brand, however, Phyto Animal Health has embraced our role as stewards of the Earth, working to reduce water use, minimize production of greenhouse gases, curtail landfill waste, and reduce the ecological impact of chemicals like pesticides, herbicides and fertilizers Phyto Animal Health is driven by a passion for healing the planet and its human and animal inhabitants with hemp. Our products were developed alongside leading veterinarians and CBD experts. Phyto Animal Health partners with suppliers, manufacturers, and distributors who share our mission for a healthier planet. We focus on the following to protect the environment. Water conservation, Elimination of chemicals in our cultivation process, Reduction of greenhouse gases, Minimization of landfill waste ,Curbing antibiotic resistance

ian@phytoanimalhealth.com

Notes: